

GR® 53 : stage 5

Pays de la Petite Pierre - La Petite-Pierre

Vue depuis le Rocher du Corbeau (A.Dorschner)

Fifth stage of the Crossing of the Massif des Vosges, this hike links La Petite-Pierre to Saverne.

The Grande Randonnée® 53 trail is a variant of the GR® 5 that links Wissembourg to Masevaux, that is to say the north and south of Alsace, via the Vosges ridges. This hike through a part of the Regional Natural Park of the Vosges du Nord, allows you to pass near rocks and castles in ruins from which you can admire splendid panoramas!

🌿 Garden of the Poets (A)

In the place called Altenbourg is the Poets' Garden, the former garden of the village teachers. Open all year round and equipped with benches and picnic tables, this garden with its flowers and statues, including one by Serge Wittman, is an excellent viewpoint over the Staedtel.

🌐 Rocher du Saut du Prince Charles (D)

Escarpement rocheux, le Rocher du Saut du Prince Charles est situé en contrebas de la route du Col de Saverne et doit son nom à la légende d'un Prince de Lorraine. Ce dernier, afin d'échapper à ses poursuivants, se serait lancé avec son cheval du haut du rocher. Les traces de sabot de sa monture sont inscrites dans la pierre à proximité de l'antique route du Col.

Rohan Chateau (E)

With its huge neoclassical facade, the castle recalls the glory of the Bishops Princes and testifies to the historic role of Saverne. If the construction of the castle, begun in 1779, was interrupted in 1789 because of the Revolution, it replaced from 1790 the old square castle. In ruins and threatened with demolition at the beginning of the 19th, it was finally restored by Napoleon III before being transformed into barracks after the war of 1870. It was acquired by the city of Saverne in 1952.
